

PRINCESS PATTERN

A daily guide to cruise activities

SKAGWAY • TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 2006 • DIAMOND PRINCESS
Sunrise 6:26am • Sunset 7:29pm • Tonight's dress: Smart Casual

Welcome to Skagway

Skagway was known to thousands of hopeful gold rushers as the gateway to the gold fields. Although it boasted the shortest route to the Klondike, it was far from being the easiest. Over a hundred years ago, the White Pass route through the Coast Mountains and the shorter, but steeper, Chilkoot Trail were used by countless stampeder. The treacherous Chilkoot Trail, combined with the area's cruel elements, left scores dead. The gold rush was a boon to Skagway - by 1898 it was Alaska's largest town with a population of about 20,000.

The town's hotels, saloons, dance halls and gambling houses prospered, drawing Skagway residents as well as the 10,000 people living in the tent city of nearby Dyea. But when the gold yield dwindled in 1900, so did the population of Skagway as the miners quickly shifted to new finds in Nome.

Today, Skagway has less than 1,000 residents, but it retains the flavor of the gold rush era, especially on Broadway, with its false-front buildings, and in the Trail of '98 Museum, with its outstanding collection of memorabilia.

Passenger Viral Gastroenteritis Advisory

As many of you may have seen in the media, a significant increase in the number of viral gastroenteritis [Norwalk Virus or NLV] outbreaks has been experienced on cruise ships in the Northern Hemisphere and the greater continental USA, particularly on the eastern seaboard. As requested to cruise lines by the C.D.C recently, we wish to reinforce the essential importance of hand washing procedures [20 seconds minimum with soap under warm running water], and reporting to the Medical Centre immediately [by calling 911] at the FIRST sign of any symptoms [i.e.: fever/body aches/diarrhea/vomiting/headaches/chills/abdominal cramps/"heartburn"]. As is policy with Princess, there is no charge for any treatment aboard when a diagnosis of gastroenteritis is reached. Please be assured that the C.D.C and U.S.P.H. recommended precautionary and sanitation procedures are being closely followed aboard this vessel. For further details, please refer to the letter given to you by your stateroom steward on embarkation day.

The Trail of '98

The hardest part about getting rich in the Klondike was just getting there. The Royal Northwest Mounted Police eyed the thousands of tenderfeet (called "cheechakos") challenging the Chilkoot Trail and decreed that each man would have to haul enough food to last a year. It amounted to 2,000 pounds and most had to carry it on their backs, 200 pounds at a time. Of all the images of this period, perhaps the most vivid is the photo of an unending line of black specks arching up and over the mountain. Men back to back against each other, fearing to rest lest they lose their place in line.

Sterling Steakhouse

The Diamond Princess is proud to offer you the excellent service concept of the Sterling Steakhouse onboard this vessel. Enjoy a memorable dining experience, showcasing unique scenic views of Alaska combined with a menu featuring "Sterling Silver" prime quality Steakhouse cuts.

The Sterling Steakhouse (Located on Deck 14, Aft Starboard Side) is open daily from 6:00pm to 10:30pm. For reservations, please dial the Concierge on 3463 between the hours of 7:30am and 10:30pm daily. A $15.00 U.S.D. per person cover charge applies.

FROM THE NAVIGATOR

During the night Diamond Princess will be sailing through Lynn Canal and early this morning we will pass a half mile east of Eldred Rock Lighthouse. We will then enter Chilkoot Inlet and pass the city of Haines on our port side. Shortly after, we will enter Taiya Inlet and commence our final approaches to Skagway, where we expect to be safely berthed by 5:00am. Skagway is the ocean terminus of the White Pass and Yukon Railway and a branch of the Canal Pipeline, and serves as the marine transit point for both. Diamond Princess will sail from Skagway at 8:30pm, and after retracing our courses out of Taiya Inlet and Lynn Canal, various courses will be set through Stephens Passage and the Gastineau Channel towards Juneau.
